

Questel Supported Computational Lab

A computational lab is used for our various research purpose. We are providing computer training for deprived students. The computer has become an inevitable technology to update business and non-business activities equally. Our computer training service includes basic computer literacy, C Language, Java, Tally, AutoCAD, and GST.

